

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest.

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to require their stations to air "Stolen Honor" days before the election is a clear example of inappropriate use of media ownership and control.

If they are truly going to serve public interest, they should also require their stations to air "Going Up River" before or after "Stolen Honor."

In addition, they blocked Ted Koppel's "The Fallen," where he read the names and showed the pictures of the fallen soldiers and non-coms in Iraq, on many of their stations.

The FCC has the power and the responsibility to stop Sinclair's violations of one of our nation's most precious rights, the freedom of the press. Please do not wait until after the airing to censure Sinclair. Please do your job today. Thank you.
